

POACHING PREVENTION

Neil is a conservation photojournalist, author, university lecturer and professional wildlife guide. Neil's photography has won awards all over the world, including the prestigious World Press Photo of the Year.

Neil focuses his efforts on creating photographs and photo stories that benefit conservation by challenging perceptions of species, increasing people's understanding, inspiring action and increasing funding.

As well as his documentary photography, which has been used in documentary films and published in books and magazines, Neil uses his wildlife photography to raise funds for conservation causes through exhibitions, events and direct sales.
